

Inheritance, Land and Housing Rights for Women: A Mitigation Strategy for HIV and AIDS

Thursday, 12 March 2009 • 1:15-2:45 PM
UN Headquarters • Conference Room C

We will critically review innovative work done, from the grassroots to the international level, on increasing women's access to, control over and ownership of land and housing as a strategy for mitigating the impact of HIV and AIDS. The discussion will also focus on strengthening advocacy efforts and increasing action by policy makers and donors. Distinguished panelists include:

- Elizabeth Mataka, UN Special Envoy on HIV/AIDS in Africa
- Jeanmarie Fenrich, Fordham Leitner Center for International Law and Justice
- Seodi White, Women and Law in Southern Africa - Malawi
- Esther Mwaura, GROOTS Kenya, Huairou Commission
- Anne Gathumbi, Open Society Initiative for East Africa, Law and Health Initiative
- Rose Gawayo, United Nations Development Programme
